Investigation Request: Major League Baseball

Dear Messrs. Riera and Burstein:

America First Legal Foundation (“AFL”) is a national, nonprofit organization working to protect the rule of law, due process, and equal protection for all Americans. We write pursuant to 29 C.F.R. § 1601.6(a) as an “organization ... request[ing] the issuance of a Commissioner charge for an inquiry into individual or systemic discrimination” related to Major League Baseball’s (“MLB”) illegal employment practices.¹

I. MLB Facially Violates Title VII

MLB’s official website reports at least three unlawful employment programs: the “MLB Diversity Pipeline Program,”² the “Diversity Fellowship Program,”³ and the “Diversity in Ticket Sales Training Program.”^{4,5} These facially discriminatory programs belie the MLB’s official statements claiming that it is an equal opportunity employer. Consequently, either MLB is affirmatively misrepresenting its hiring and promotion practices, or it is admitting to egregious and morally indefensible violations of the law. There is no third alternative.

³ Diversity Fellowship Program, MLB, <https://bit.ly/46dKHcU> (last visited Oct. 4, 2023).

⁴ MLB On Deck Sales Program, MLB, <https://bit.ly/3F1F71m> (last visited Oct. 4, 2023).

⁵ We also note that 42 U.S.C. § 1981 prohibits racial discrimination in the making, performance, modification, and termination of contracts, and in the enjoyment of all benefits, privileges, terms, and conditions of the contractual relationship; the statute applies to all phases and incidents of the contractual relationship. Comcast Corp. v. Nat’l Ass’n of Afr. Am.-Owned Media, 140 S. Ct. 1009, 1020 (2020) (Ginsburg, J., concurring). However, MLB admits giving preference to contractors on the basis of race, color, national origin, and sex in its “Diverse Business Partners Program.” The program is described as “an initiative designed to increase opportunities for minority and women-owned businesses to participate in the procurement activities of Major League Baseball Operations.”

A. The “MLB Diversity Pipeline Program”

MLB advertises its Diversity Pipeline Program as “seeking to identify, develop, and grow the pool of qualified underrepresented and female candidates for on-field and front office baseball operations roles.”⁶ MLB also states that the program “has assisted over 400+ hires since the program’s inception.”⁷ Therefore, the MLB Diversity Pipeline Program is an “apprenticeship or other training program” under 42 U.S.C. § 2000e(2)(d).

It is an unlawful employment practice for MLB to “discriminate against any individual because of his race, color, religion, sex, or national origin in admission to, or employment in, any program established to provide apprenticeship or other training.”⁸ However, MLB’s website makes it explicitly clear that the Diversity Pipeline Program is only for “qualified minority and female candidates.”⁹

This discrimination is stated more explicitly in the description of the 2023 Diversity Pipeline Scout and Coaching Development Program, which “will teach women and people of color¹⁰ interested in scouting the basics of scouting and provide tools to enhance their existing experience in scouting and related areas.”¹¹ Similarly, the Diversity Pipeline Scout Development Program, which teaches the basics of scouting and provides tools to enhance their existing experience, is limited to “women and people of color.”¹²

Despite the clear and explicit statements by MLB that the 2023 Diversity Pipeline Scout and Coaching Development Program and the Diversity Pipeline Scout Development Program are only available to women and people of color, the application forms misleadingly contain an equal opportunity statement that claims the MLB does not discriminate on the basis of race or sex. This misrepresents what is clear from MLB’s own statements about the program - it unlawfully discriminates by prohibiting Caucasian males from applying. The MLB Diversity Pipeline Program thus facially violates both 42 U.S.C. §§ 2000e(a)(2) and 2000e(d).

B. The “Diversity Fellowship Program”

MLB advertises its “Diversity Fellowship Program” as an effort to “provide the opportunity for young, diverse professionals to experience front office positions” and that “fellows will have the opportunity to work in baseball operations and see the inner workings of a front office.”¹³ This program is billed by MLB as “a rewarding opportunity to start a career in baseball” and is for a period of at least 18 months.”¹⁴ Under the “Eligibility” section of the program’s “About” page, MLB once again explicitly states that only “people of color and female candidates” may apply.¹⁵ MLB’s Diversity Fellowship Program also facially violates both 42 U.S.C. §§ 2000e(a)(2) and 2000e(d).

C. The “Diversity in Ticket Sales Training Program”

MLB’s website also advertises the “Diversity in Ticket Sales Training Program.”¹⁶ This program is “designed to provide participants a jumpstart in their sales careers through a series of training sessions and consideration for entry-level sales opportunities across Major League Baseball (MLB) and Minor League Baseball (MiLB) entities.”¹⁷ MLB further states that the program “aims to grow the visibility of people of color and women within the industry who successfully complete this program directly into hiring pipelines with clubs.”¹⁸ MLB’s Diversity in Ticket Sales Training Program facially violates both 42 U.S.C. §§ 2000e(a)(2) and 2000e(d).

II. A Commissioner’s Charge Is Proper Here

MLB’s use of race, color, national origin, and sex in its hiring, training, and promotion is patently illegal. 42 U.S.C. §§ 2000e-2(a), (d). Decades of case law have held that — no matter how well-intentioned — quotas and other employment practices aimed at achieving racial or sexual “balancing” in the workforce are strictly prohibited. Students for Fair Admissions, Inc. v. President & Fellows of Harvard Coll., 143 S. Ct. 2141, 2172 (2023); Bostock v. Clayton County, 140 S. Ct. 1731, 1737 (2020); see also United Steelworkers v. Weber, 443 U.S. 193, 208 (1979); Johnson v. Transp. Agency, 480 U.S. 616, 621, 632 (1987). Similarly, MLB’s program of awarding contracts based on the immutable characteristics of its suppliers is legally indefensible. An equal right to make contracts is an empty promise without equal opportunities to present or receive offers and negotiate over terms. Comcast Corp., 140 S. Ct. at 1020 (Ginsburg, J., concurring).

MLB's unlawful employment and contracting practices are also deeply harmful. Discrimination based on immutable characteristics such as race, color, national origin, or sex "generates a feeling of inferiority as to their status in the community that may affect their hearts and minds in a way unlikely to ever be undone."¹⁹ More broadly, the discrimination highlighted in this case necessarily foments contention and resentment; it is "odious and destructive."²⁰ It truly "is a sordid business, this divvying us up" by race, color, national origin, religion, or sex.²¹

Sadly, MLB has reversed the progress that it has made since 1947 when Jackie Robinson broke the color barrier and MLB has now decreed that it will revert to its shameful history and judge people not by the content of their character but by the color of their skin.

Sincerely,

APPENDIX

MLB DIVERSITY PIPELINE PROGRAM

This program seeks to identify, develop and grow the pool of qualified minority and female candidates for on-field and baseball operations positions throughout the industry. Each MLB Club under the program is required to provide a plan for increasing the diversity of its staff, including a hiring plan and a plan for developing existing diverse employees to assume higher positions at Clubs.

MLB DIVERSITY FELLOWSHIP PROGRAM

MLB announced the launch of its MLB Diversity Fellowship Program, a new approach to expand the talent pool of future industry leaders. The program was open to people of color and women, a direct and dedicated initiative to change the pipeline and include more people of color and women. The program provides the opportunity for young, diverse professionals to experience front office positions that have been traditionally influential in baseball operations decisions. This distinct opportunity will place candidates in entry-level roles within one of the MLB Clubs and MLB's Central Office. The Club-based program consists of an 18-to-24-month commitment in a front office or baseball operations role at one of the MLB Clubs around the country participating in the MLB Diversity Fellowship Program.

DIVERSITY IN TICKET SALES TRAINING PROGRAM

The MLB on Deck Diversity in Sales program is designed to provide participants a jumpstart in their sales careers through a series of training sessions and consideration for entry-level sales opportunities across Major League Baseball (MLB) and Minor League Baseball (MiLB) entities. With a focus on attracting diverse and well-qualified applicants, MLB aims to grow the visibility of people of color and women within the industry by placing individuals who successfully complete this program directly into hiring pipelines with clubs.

Participants will take part in an eight-week-long program aimed at providing the basic tools, knowledge and understanding of the ticket sales world, giving them a distinct advantage in the interview process for entry-level sales positions. Participants will attend weekly virtual training sessions led by members of the MLB Ticketing Department in addition to sales executives from across MLB. By the conclusion of the program, participants will be placed in the pipeline for all MLB and MiLB Clubs to access and engage with when looking to fill new entry-level sales positions.

To date, more than 115 students have completed the MLB On Deck Program since its inception in Summer 2021. Graduates of the program have secured positions with more than half of the clubs in MLB, as well as other teams and companies in different sectors of the sports industry.

People of Color: Often the preferred collective term for referring to non-white racial groups. While “people of color” can be a politically useful term, and describes people with their own attributes (as opposed to what they are not, e.g., “non-White”), it is also important whenever possible to identify people through their own racial/ethnic group, as each has its own distinct experience and meaning and may be more appropriate.
